February—July 2012
Twelve youth
serving seven ministry locations in various countries for six months in 2012

12:7 Serve is a six month cross-cultural experience where 12 youth representing a range of cultures and backgrounds will be able to confirm their call to the cross-cultural mission field and develop themselves in missions and ministry by serving on 7 ministry sites with the various fields and districts of the newly-formed Mesoamerica Region.

Estela Reza was born in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma and is of Mexican descent. She began attending church through a local VBS and continued to attend with her mother and sisters through a bus ministry. As the years went by she became a teen and received the Lord into heart. God spoke to her life through a series of circumstances and blessed her heart with the passion to serve people. She became very involved in ministry at her local church and began to participate in short-term mission trips.

After high school, Estela decided to go to Southern Nazarene University (SNU) in Bethany, Oklahoma to earn a bachelor's degree in Urban Ministry & Theology.

During her years at SNU, Estela was given the opportunity to participate in various short-term mission trips that confirmed her calling to missions. Now graduated and recently relocated to Olathe, Kansas with her sister, Liliana Reza, her heart desires to serve unconditionally.
